

Enjoy this fun little story...

Jesus Is Watching You

A burglar broke into a house late at night. As he snuck around with his flashlight, he heard a deep voice saying solemnly, "JESUS IS WATCHING YOU."

The burglar stopped in his tracks.

Silence.

Cautiously he started looking through the house again, but he stopped short when he heard the same calm voice saying, "JESUS IS WATCHING YOU."

The burglar strained his ears, but heard nothing more, so he started moving around again, but as before, the same proclamation rang out in the darkness, "JESUS IS WATCHING YOU."

This time the burglar waved his flashlight vigorously around the room – and the beam picked up a large green parrot sitting on a perch.

Relieved, the burglar laughed. "What's your name, birdie?" he asked.

The parrot replied, "CLARENCE".

"What kind of owner would name a parrot Clarence?" the burglar asked scornfully.

To which the parrot replied, "THE SAME OWNER WHO NAMED THE ROTTWEILER "JESUS".

If this "testfile.pdf" is saved on your Desktop (on a regular computer), or in your iBooks or Adobe Reader library (on a tablet or phone), or in the Downloads folder of your Silk browser (on Kindle Fire)....
you can download and read an eBook!